Gentlemen

Yours of the 31st ult. received and in reply will say that you may send me the 3.50 in cash for the Encyclopedia instead of exchanging. I will however in the near future want a selection of coins on approval and will write you when I am ready.

Sincerely
Bert A. Saxton

Gentlemen

Was sorry to learn that I had not understood your offer for my book, but as the book is there will accept the 2.50 in trade. Send me a few bronze coins of the Roman empire priced from 25 to 75 cents, good condition. Also include the 2nd Julius Caesar denarius you mention in your last letter as I may decide to take that for one. My collection is not large and I would rather have more of the lower-priced coins before buying any of the rarer ones. Give me a good lot of prices. Will promptly return any of this approval selection I cannot use.

Hoping to hear from you soon I remain

Very truly
